The Gabriel Hounds. Signed copy By Mary Stewart.

The Gabriel Hounds - according to one legend - are the ghostly hounds that hunt through the sky with Death, and if anyone is going to die, you hear them clamouring over the house at night. In Mary Stewart's new novel, the house in question is a crumbling Arabian Nights' palace, Dar Ibrahim in the High Lebanon, where an eccentric old Englishwoman calling herself 'Lady Harriet' lives in decaying splendour with her resident physician and three Arab servants. For years her seclusion has been complete. Christy Mansel - young, rich and spoiled - finds her tour of the Middle East enlivened by the presence of her charming cousin Charles. Together they decide to break the family rule of non-interference and pay a surprise visit to their Great-Aunt Harriet. Dar Ibrahim, however, proves difficult to get into - and almost impossible to get out of. And the cousins learn that 'Lady Harriet' has a very good reason for not wanting witnesses to what goes on in the underground rooms below the Seraglio. In every way THE GABRIEL HOUNDS measures up to its predecessors - in spirited characterisation, vivid description, glowing romance and unrelenting excitement. This is story-telling at its best.
